

009 Steam Railcar for Kato 11-105 chassis

Jeno

VIEW IN BROWSER

updated 5. 12. 2025 | published 5. 12. 2025

Summary

reuploaded from my thingiverse account that I am now leaving behind as I migrate onto Printables

Hobby & Makers > Other Ideas

Tags: 009 009modelrailway

This little thig is a fictional 0-4-4t Built from an old vertical boiler and coach to be used on the Bryn Bach Light Railway as an inspector's saloon in 1920. He was given the nickname Jim Bob after somebody chalked the name onto his coal bunker, the name stuck and he was fitted with nameplates. During the great depression he began to be used heavily on normal passenger trains. In November 1958 he was permenantly taken out of service due to being completely worn out. He then had any useably parts stripped off and was sold for scrap, being cut up by Febuary 1959.

This remix is based on

WIP 009 Steam Railcar

by JenoD

Model files

0-4-4-steam-railcar-_jim-bob_-v2.stl

License

This work is licensed under a
Creative Commons (4.0 International License)

Attribution-ShareAlike

✖ | Sharing without ATTRIBUTION
✔ | Remix Culture allowed
✔ | Commercial Use
✔ | Free Cultural Works
✔ | Meets Open Definition