I liked the original project (https://www.thingiverse.com/thing:4748009) and felt it was a good fit for an area I was about to design a new building for.

I scaled the design files to fit N-scale (54%), and pre-assembled the walls and main entrance in TinkerCAD in order to print as one unit.

I didn't bother with the foundation or door opening mechanisms found in the original. Cut the roof from sheet styrene.

This remix and print is a mirror image of the original, to better fit my scene.
